Tyler Cox concentrates his practice in eminent domain and condemnation law, representing landowners and business operators of all sizes in eminent domain, condemnation, and inverse condemnation matters.

Tyler Cox is an associate in Baker Donelson's Atlanta and Macon offices and a member of the Advocacy Department.

Tyler joined Baker Donelson's eminent domain team in 2019 after serving as a staff attorney at an Am Law 25 firm. Tyler has represented landowners in both condemnation and inverse condemnation jury trials in Georgia and was an integral part of a trial in Laurens County resulting in a 400 percent increase in the condemnation award to the landowners.
