Alec Wong represents organizations of all sizes across a broad range of commercial litigation matters, including contract and business disputes.

Building on his experience working with appellate court judges, Alec helps clients strategically navigate the challenges of high-stakes and often complex litigation in state courts, federal courts, and arbitration venues.

He previously served as a law clerk to the Honorable Lisa Perez Friscia of the Superior Court of New Jersey, Appellate Division. In law school, Alec served as a judicial extern to the Honorable Madeline Cox Arleo of the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey, a student attorney at the Impact Litigation Clinic within Seton Hall Law School's Center for Social Justice, and a senior editor of the Seton Hall Law Review.
