

Tom Daschle Discusses Joining with Baker Donelson in Law360

Law360 highlighted the news that former U.S. Senator and Senate Majority Leader Tom Daschle (D-SD) will join Baker Donelson as the leader of a public policy consulting affiliate, which will be called The Daschle Group, A Public Policy Advisory of Baker Donelson. The Daschle Group will be a full-service strategic advisory firm that will advise clients on a broad array of economic, policy and political issues. Mr. Daschle said that he hopes his new venture will continue to generate meaningful bipartisan consensus, and the Baker Donelson partnership will provide him the best chance to meet those goals.

"We've had many good conversations," he said. "What I like is their attitude about bipartisanship and making a very productive and conducive working environment for the people themselves."

Read the Article (subscription required)