Baker Donelson Launches Maritime Law Blog

December 17, 2013

The Admiralty & Maritime practice group at Baker, Donelson, Bearman, Caldwell & Berkowitz, PC, has launched a new blog, "Striding the Quarterdeck - a Maritime Blog."

The blog will cover recent developments in national maritime jurisprudence and regulatory action, with a focus on issues that affect the inland and offshore industries in and around the Gulf of Mexico.

It will provide an overview of current and emerging trends in maritime law relevant to:

- Vessel Owners
- Vessel Support Companies
- Offshore Exploration and Production Concerns
- Insurance Providers and Brokers
- Marine Financing Institutions

Striding the Quarterdeck is available online now, including our most recent blog post regarding regulatory action concerning the deadly November 16, 2012 platform fire in the Gulf of Mexico.
